Technical Presentations

11:00 a.m.-Noon OPENING KEYNOTE – Future of Work – John Howard, MD, MPH, JD, LLM, Director, NIOSH

Dr. Howard will discuss the NIOSH Future of Work Initiative. The new Initiative involves compile studies on the future of work; current and relevant research projects; promoting research into new industries, technologies, organizational design, job arrangements, risk profiles, and ways to control risks; and connecting trends in workplace, work, and workforce to prepare for the future of occupational safety and health.

Noon-12:10 p.m. BREAK

12:10-1:00 p.m. NIOSH Activities Supporting the Optimization of Respiratory Protection — Maryann M. D'Alessandro, PhD, Director, National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), National Personal Protective Technology Laboratory (NPPTL)

This presentation will focus on the current respiratory protection landscape including updates on the latest research that will contribute to future CDC guidance. The discussion will focus on respirators, including respirator approval activities, international respirators, respirator decontamination, elastomeric respirators, exhalation valves, and standards gaps supporting supply optimization.

1:00-2:00 p.m. The Injury and Illness Prevention Program Turns 30! – Len Welsh, Attorney, Lobbyist, and former Chief of the Division of Occupational Safety and Health (Cal/OSHA)

The Cal/OSHA Injury and Illness Prevention Program regulation went into effect in 1991. This year, as it turns 30, we will look back on its history, its enforcement, and its compliance challenges. The rulemaking controversy over Cal/OSHA's use of the IIPP for COVID-related violations will be addressed. We will also explore some general ideas on the path forward for this ground-breaking regulation.

2:00 p.m. Summit Wrap-up
